Frequently Asked Questions

Question	Answer
What are structured products?	Structured products come in many forms and are a combination of standard financial instruments to form a single investment solution. Created to meet the specific needs of investors, structured products are inherently flexible – a solution can be found to match just about every investment objective. Structured products can be used as an alternative to a direct investment, as part of the asset allocation process to reduce the risk profile of a portfolio or to capitalise on a current market trend.
What is Capital Series?	A ‘set and forget’ investment that aims to generate capital growth and income (in some cases) over a set period. Capital Series can give you easy access to a number of asset classes and markets around the world with the benefit of capital protection at maturity.
How is Capital Series structured?	Capital Series is structured as a Deferred Purchase Agreement (DPA). Under a DPA, investors agree to accept physical delivery of the Delivery Assets on the maturity date. They can also elect to sell the Delivery Assets and receive their maturity value in cash (brokerage costs apply).  <pre> graph TD Investor[Investor] -- "Investment Amount" --> Bank[Commonwealth Bank] Bank -- "Deferred Purchase Agreement" --> Investor Bank --> Geared[Geared equity component] Bank --> Fixed[Fixed interest component] </pre> The geared equity component provides the equity exposure and the fixed interest component provides the capital protection.
What is capital protection?	A feature often associated with structured products, capital protection generally means that an investor’s initial investment amount is protected up to a certain level (e.g. 70%, 100%) if the investment is held to maturity. In a volatile environment, a capital protection feature may be valuable for investors who are seeking an alternative to a direct investment with a reduced level of risk.
Why is the product called Capital Series?	The product aims to generate capital growth as well as provide capital protection, hence the name “Capital Series”.

What are the risks?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If you choose to accept physical delivery of units in the SPDR S&P/ASX 200 Fund at maturity, you will have exposure to the performance of this Fund which may not be advantageous to you. Frequently Asked Questions (cont.)

Question	Answer
What are coupon payments?	Coupons are an amount paid to you as income under your Capital Series investment. Coupons can be either: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fixed – you will receive a coupon payment regardless of the performance of your investment; or • Contingent – you will only receive a coupon payment if the performance of your investment reaches a hurdle, e.g. +10% from the start date.
What is a Participation Rate?	The leverage or exposure of a product to movements in the Underlying Portfolio's price. A participation rate of 100 per cent would generate a return exactly equal to any rise in the Underlying Portfolio. For example, if the Underlying Portfolio rises by 35 per cent at maturity, your return would also be 35 per cent. This does not take into account any performance cap.
What happens at maturity?	You can choose to receive the final value of your investment as either: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • units in the SPDR S&P/ASX 200 Fund, or • a cash payment – by electing to sell the units (brokerage costs apply) You will receive a letter from Commonwealth Bank one month before maturity asking you to elect one of the above maturity options. If you do not advise of your preference, you will automatically receive units in the SPDR S&P/ASX 200 Fund.
What is a Delivery Asset?	The asset which you agree to purchase at maturity. In the case of OzAsia, the Delivery Asset is a unit in the SPDR S&P/ASX 200 Fund. The number of units you will receive depends on the Maturity Value of your investment.
Why is capital growth capped?	A capped level of capital growth essentially means that you receive any growth up to that particular level. The reason a cap is placed on some Strategies is simply for pricing reasons. For example, by foregoing some capital growth, a 100% capital protection feature can be factored in. Alternatively, Strategies which do not have a cap on the capital growth usually do not offer coupons (income payments), or in some cases have a reduced level of capital protection. Commonwealth Bank does not receive any benefit if a Strategy's capital growth exceeds the cap level.

Please note that the final termination amount can vary from the indicative amount. Break costs and an early termination fee will apply.
How is the Strategy Portfolio Return calculated?	Because each Strategy has different features, there is no one formula to calculate the Strategy Portfolio Return. You will need to refer to the PDS (Part 2) to determine the calculation relevant to your Strategy.
What are the costs?	Application Fee – may be payable at the start of your Capital Series investment.
