- Your participation rate will be fixed at between 105% and 120% (to be set on the issue date) for the term of your investment even if a trigger event occurs, although if a trigger event occurs, your maturity amount will be reduced by $0.15 for each $1 you invest;
- Irrespective of how the index performs over the term, the maturity amount of each NAB ASX 200 Investment will be not less than:
  - $1.00, if no trigger event occurs during the term; or
  - $0.85 if a trigger event occurs during the term.

Even if a trigger event occurs you still participate in the upside as the graph below demonstrates.

The above graph illustrates the performance of the index. S&P officially acquired the licence and maintenance of the calculation methodology of the index on 31 March 2000. Past performance of the index is not necessarily a guide to the future performance of the index or NAB ASX 200 Investments. The return on NAB ASX 200 Investments may be substantially different from the performance of the index over the term because of index averaging over the first and last year of the term, the impact of the participation rate, the application of the NAB guarantee amount, the occurrence of a trigger event and because the return on NAB ASX 200 Investments does not take into account any dividends or distributions paid on the shares and units that make up the index.

Key risks

It is important that you read section 7 of the PDS "risks" before investing.

Two of the key risks of investing in the NAB ASX 200 Investment are as follows:

1. Any capital growth on your investment will depend on the performance of the index. If the index falls to or below 65% of its level at the issue date, the NAB guarantee amount at maturity will be $0.85 per $1 invested or your investment return will be reduced by $0.15 per $1 invested. The return on your investment at maturity could still be less than the NAB guarantee amount because of:
  - the difference between any price you receive in selling the shares or units delivered to you and the price at which they were valued at maturity; and
  - brokerage fees if you elect to receive a cash payment at maturity.

2. NAB's undertaking that the value of your investment will at least equal the NAB guarantee amount applies only if you hold your investment until maturity. If you withdraw your investment before maturity, or it is terminated before maturity, you might receive less than the NAB guarantee amount.

Your investment relies on NAB's general credit worthiness and ability to meet its contractual obligations. There are also other risks including risks relating to NAB exercising its discretions, inflation risk and the risk that NAB terminates your investment before maturity (which it may do in the limited circumstances set out in the investment conditions).
